Dance has long been an inspiration to the world of music, and tonight's performance will explore how the last 500 years have seen such an influence evolve. Join the unusual trio of Heather Tomala – Recorder, Henrik Persson – Cello and David Pollock – Harpsichord for a vibrant and energetic performance, breaking their instruments' traditional boundaries to feature Renaissance and Baroque music along side traditional Irish Folk and more.

The evening will be introduced by the performers and promises to be exhilaratingly lively!
